

I am a professional driver and depend heavily on the information I obtain from my XM Satellite radio stations. The local information on the XM Instant Traffic & Weather is vital when arriving in a new town. My experience is that the local stations are not only hard to find but so saturated with commercials and irrelevant chatter that by the time I find a station it is too late to be of benefit. I encourage you on your quest to keep this information available to XM listeners. Thank you for the opportunity to speak to this issue.
